Gin Factory
 BY GULLETT, GLADNEY & BRO.

IMPROVED BRUSH GIN—Those make a sample equal to the best. Our Gin is made of the best material, and is unsurpassed in speed and durability. It requires a little power, as any other Gin, and is the improvement made to the Gin, as it is free from the danger of taking fire. It is made with great care, and has given general satisfaction to all who have tried them. The Gin of our Factory has a higher reputation, as far as they are known.

The Patent Steel Comb Brush.
 This is the greatest improvement yet made in the Cotton Gin. This Gin, after repeated experiments and improvements, has been brought to a state of perfection, leaving it without a rival in speed, or durability. The certificate below are from the most competent judges in the country—Messrs. MOORE, BARNARD, JORDAN, KIRK, and JONES.

Since these Gins were made, other improvements have been made. The wire brush has been substituted by the Steel Comb Brush, which, in every respect, is superior to the former, being of great strength, free from any vibration, and affording an amount of blast desired. These Gins differ from the common Gin, in having two small Brushes between the cotton and the Steel Comb Brush. Their superiority over all other Gins consists in their superior mowing power, in opening up and straightening the lint, giving it a curled appearance and an elasticity that no other Gin can give. It is preparing it better, and making it worth more to the manufacturer than that of any other Gin. The best judges, as the certificate shows, prize the cotton at a cent more than the same quality of cotton ginned upon any other Gin—being equal to five dollars per bale. Since the last improvements, there is nothing in the world that will give a better result than to get out of order than the common Gin. The two small Brushes never have been able to get out of order, and the recent improvements have been made. We feel confident that these Gins must soon supplant all others. Those who have given them a fair trial think it had economy to use any other, if given to them.

These Gins cost us a great deal to make. Every Gin will be made with the utmost care, and the plainest. It leaves the Factory. No Gin will be sent to any one until it is perfect, and no reward will be paid to any order, unless the Gin is perfect. But every Gin sent from the Factory is guaranteed to be as good as those for which certificates have been given. If upon a fair trial, anything should prove defective on our part, it will be replaced as soon as practicable. We do not, however, warrant planters' gin-buses, gears, parts, or negroes, but we warrant our Gins.

CERTIFICATES.
 I purchased of Gullett & Gladney, of Aberdeen, Miss. a Gin of their improved Patent Wire-Brush Gin. It is a sixty-five saw Gin. It is so light in draft that four mules pull it easily, and runs so smooth that it may be handled with ease outside the house. It mows and cleans the cotton better than any Gin I have ever seen, and makes a sample entirely free from the least appearance of any, having on the contrary, a beautiful curled appearance. It is strong and elastic, surpassing anything I have ever seen. It has all the speed that can be desired, and I see nothing to make it any more difficult to run than any other Gin. My cotton will be better than any other Gin, and it will be worth more than any other Gin. I am not at all difficult in running them, would be worth to manage a farm. My cotton will be better than any other Gin, and it will be worth more than any other Gin. I am not at all difficult in running them, would be worth to manage a farm. My cotton will be better than any other Gin, and it will be worth more than any other Gin. I am not at all difficult in running them, would be worth to manage a farm.
